

Make your own dresses for your
DOLL COLLECTION

FEATURING

*"Lingerie Lou"

COLONIAL DOLL PATTERN #101

* A Trade Mark

DOLL BODIES INC., NEW YORK 10, N.Y. • PRICE FIFTEEN CENTS

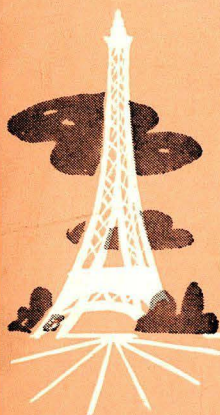

Out of these pages step dolls from far-away lands to win your heart . . . start your collection today, a collection completely different from any other.

It's easy and fun to make these lovely costumes with Lingerie Lou Patterns. Although you follow the patterns for style, you choose your own fabrics and colors. And so you wind up with a National Dolls Collection nobody else can copy, which becomes a beautiful decoration for your room.

Colonial Doll Our cover-picture is a handsome dress of the 18th Century, especially adapted for Lingerie Lou Dolls. This specially elegant American Colonial Doll is decidedly in the glamour class, from the delicate fichu around her neck to the billowing panniers of her skirt. You can easily make this flattering period gown for your own doll from Lingerie Pattern #101.

Spanish Doll Isn't she a beauty? Spanish women have always loved vivid colors, and their traditional costume, with the high comb and the lace mantilla (that's what the headdress is called) is one you'll surely want to have. Many of the old-time costumes have elaborate aprons which become treasured heirlooms in families. You can copy this fascinating Spanish Doll costume from Lingerie Lou Pattern #102.

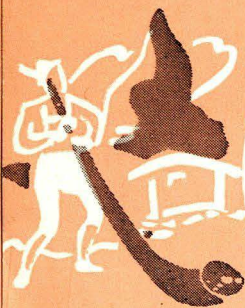

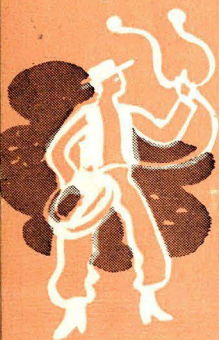

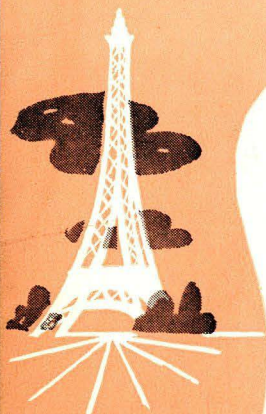

SPAIN

PATTERN
#102

Italian Doll

Dressed in the gay folk-costume of southern Italy, this Lingerie Lou Doll is every bit as irresistible as Italian sunshine and song — (and every tourist will testify to the charm they exert.) This Italian doll looks so real you almost expect her to reach for her tambourine and to start the lively dance steps of the tarantella. Give her a chance to whirl and spin and slide her merry way into your National Dolls Collection. Her colorful attire will certainly rate her as one of the belles. And you can make that perky headdress and unusual dress by following Lingerie Lou Pattern #103.

German Doll

At very first sight, you're sure to call her a trim little trick. From the long ribbons of her cute pillbox to the lace insert in her apron, this Lingerie Lou Doll is dressed in an old-time German costume. She looks especially neat, yet decidedly on the pert side, with all those tiers of petticoats and skirts, and with the top skirt surprisingly the shortest of them all. This style costume is one not often seen; a novelty number you surely will want to own. And you can add to the variety and historical value of your doll collection by making it yourself from Lingerie Lou Pattern #104.

ITALIAN AND GERMAN

PATTERNS
#103, #104

Scotch Doll A costume that seems exceptionally plain but which is captivatingly lovely, is the one worn by the Lingerie Lou Scotch Doll. Her fine plaid shawl is something from which she cannot be separated . . . probably because it's the most ornamental feature of her traditional dress. And a Scotch lassie always wears her shawl in exactly the same fashion — across the top of her head, of course, but then with the shorter end hanging over the left arm, and with the right-hand side of the shawl hanging to the bottom of her skirt. The front folds of the soft shawl are held in place by a large brooch. For this effective outfit, use Lingerie Lou Pattern #105.

Irish Doll Here's a pert little colleen who might have stepped right out of old Ireland, to greet you in her friendly brogue and with a saucy smile...don't you agree? This unusual Lingerie Lou Doll costume has been designed for your easy sewing. It includes such characteristic details as the full double skirt, and although one of them is always pinned up to keep it out of the wearer's way, it somehow becomes an added decorative feature. And notice how her plaid shawl is worn — always tucked into the tightly laced bodice. Add this attractive Irish doll to your collection by copying Lingerie Lou Pattern #106

SCOTCH AND IRISH

PATTERNS
#105, #106

AMERICAN
BRIDESMAID • BRIDE • MAID OF HONOR patterns 107, 108 or 109 respectively of your

DOLL

NORWAY AND SWEDEN

PATTERNS
#110, #111

Bridal Party Everybody loves a bride . . . and the bride's attendants always shine in her reflected glory. This photograph of a typical American bridal group can be transformed into a trio of the loveliest dolls in your collection. There's a Lingerie Lou Pattern for each of these handsome gowns, so that you may duplicate all three for yourself.

Bride's Gown	Lingerie Lou Pattern #108
Bridesmaid	Lingerie Lou Pattern #107
Maid of Honor	Lingerie Lou Pattern #109

Norwegian Doll Only in the remote villages of Norway would you be apt to find a costume like this Lingerie Lou Doll's. There are intricate details to the bodice — the open part filled with a bit of gay cloth, and decorated with flowers and colored grass beads. The belt is also decorated with colored beads, and usually fastened with a large silver buckle. It's been modified so that you can copy it easily from Lingerie Lou Pattern #110.

Swedish Doll One of the most representative of all Swedish folk-costumes is the one worn by this Lingerie Lou Doll. With its bright colors, gay stripes, tight little bodice and the apron the most colorful part of it all, this is one of the prettiest dresses you'll find in the modern or traditional wardrobe. Would you like one just like it for your doll? Follow directions in Lingerie Lou Pattern #111.

FRENCH AND DUTCH

PATTERNS
#112, #113

French Doll

If you were to walk along a narrow, cobble-stoned street in Brittany—the home of this bewitching Breton cover-girl — you'd see plenty of bright reds, violets and blues. These are favorite colors there, for the men, too; because in Brittany they really cling to their old customs and costumes. And you'd see more varieties of starched white caps than you could count — tall ones and small ones, bits of linen and lace that tie under the chin or perch on the head. But you wouldn't want too many variations to copy, would you? That's why this Lingerie Lou Doll is dressed in a composite Breton costume. It's all set for you to make for your own doll from Lingerie Lou Pattern #112.

Dutch Doll

From the land famous for its tulips, and as crisply fresh as the flower petals, comes this Lingerie Lou Dutch Doll costume. Evidently curves are extremely popular in Holland, for the girls of the Zuyder Zee sometimes wear as many as seven petticoats, and then an extra roll to round out their hips. Everything except the wooden shoes (called sabots) is included in this pattern. Bring a typical little Dutch girl into your home by copying this demure costume. Follow Lingerie Lou Pattern #113.

POLAND AND ARGENTINA

PATTERNS
#114, #115

Polish Doll

Although most national costumes vary from village to village, they generally are a similar blaze of color. This Polish Doll is dressed in equally colorful fashion and boasts a brilliantly decorated headband and belt. She cuts a most picturesque little figure; one you'll certainly want to include in your own doll-family. Copy her captivating costume from Lingerie Lou Pattern #114.

Argentinian Doll

With a swirl of her long ruffled skirts, this Lingerie Lou Doll dressed in Argentina fashion will walk right into your heart. Brilliant colors, artfully cut sleeves, the bright scarf at her throat and gay ribbon in her hair, all make for a most vivacious appearance. And of course they're all features you'll want to incorporate in your own doll collection. Just follow Lingerie Lou Pattern #115.

Swiss Doll

Swiss girls cherish the designs, colors and trimmings of their mothers' and grandmothers' clothes. This charming costume is worn in the Appenzell section of Switzerland, famous for fine laces and embroideries. You can almost see this typical Swiss miss, holding the small pillow on which she makes hairpin lace, as you make this dress for your doll. Use Lingerie Lou Pattern #116. (illustrated on back cover)

Costume adaptation by Selma M. Faber

Printed in U.S.A.

Copyright 1952 Doll Bodies, Inc.

SWISS

PATTERN
#116